

Be a track detective!

Below are animal prints as featured in Animal Tracks.

See what animal signs and tracks you can find, and which animals the tracks belong to.

Print this page out, and you can write down the tracks and animals you discover.

Soft earth, mud, sand, dusty areas and snow are good places to look for tracks.

To help locate animals, you may also see animal “signs,” for example the chew marks of beaver teeth on a tree. Listen carefully and you can hear sounds animals make. Sometimes you can even smell animals. A good detective tries to use all senses. What tracks can you find?
